Band Bounce Etiquette

A good audience member:

- Is on time for the performance
- Leaves food and drink outside the auditorium
- Turns off mobile phones, pages, and other audible devices
- Waits to enter or exit the auditorium until between pieces (wait until applause begins to leave or return to your seat)
- Remains quiet and attentive during the performance
- Remains seated during the entire performance
- Shows respect by applauding when a director enters the stage
- Shows appreciation by applauding at the end of a piece (Whistling and yelling are not appropriate)
- Shows appreciation by applauding for jazz soloists during the piece
- Finds a babysitter for young children who are not old enough to understand or enjoy the performance
- Listens to all of the groups performing

A good performer:

- Dresses appropriately
- Acts professionally on and off the stage
- Shows respect by applauding when a director enters the stage
- Does not wave or talk to audience members.
- Does not call attention to mistakes
- Acts as a good audience member when listening to the other performers
